

RE-STORYING OUR PARENTING

Leading Our Children Home

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 2026

9:00 am to 1:00 pm | Cranberry Hall

How do we move out of permissive or authoritarian parenting/caregiving/teaching, and into a dynamic that is inherently satisfying and empowering for both child and adult?

Rooted in Dr. Gordon Neufeld's Alpha Children course and infused with the animist experience of Neufeld faculty member Celena Krahn, this four-hour workshop has been created for those with children in their care; parents, teachers, grandparents, social workers, ECEs, etc. Though this offering will be child-focused, those who wish to look at adult relationships or their own childhood experiences through this lens are also welcome.

This offering is about re-storying our relationships with our kids. We'll explore what a more relational way of being could feel like. Seating is limited to allow for intimate dialogue. There will be lots of time for conversation and questions.

EARLYBIRD $75 until Sept 13th

Regular tuition $100
